

Double Axle Bale/Pallet Trailers Specification and Price List

What's so different about a Staines Trailer..?

We believe that re-conditioned commercial axles offer a much sturdier foundation on which to build a bale trailer. As there is much talk of introducing HGV standard testing to bale trailers we feel it is only right to recognise this and by using shot-blasted reconditioned commercial axles allows us to be able to fit air brakes to the trailer either now or in the future.

The difference is in the detail

As agricultural contractor's we have learnt the hard way that skimping on the specification will only lead to replacing the trailer sooner and that's why our double axle trailers are plated from 18 tonne. Quite simply the difference is that you specify what you want. The build specification is decided by you and made to suit your needs. If you have a requirement that is not listed here then give us a ring and ask Eddie what we can do to make your trailer meet your needs.
